

PURE ORGANIC POMEGRANATE OIL (Liquid)

HEALTH BY NATURE

Pomegranate seed oil is extracted from the pomegranate seeds (Punica granatum) by a unique extraction method called Full Lipo-Hydrophilic Oil Extract (FLHOE) which optimally depletes the oil-soluble components in the seeds. These components include a complex of fatty acids, including phonic, oleic, palmitic and stearic fatty acids. Punicic acid is a unique polyunsaturated fatty acid unique to pomegranate seeds, which has been extensively researched in recent years and has demonstrated a variety of activities and beneficial effects in various human contexts. The oil is a powerful antioxidant and is used as an important ingredient in the cosmetics industry. In addition, pomegranate seed oil has been researched in the context of skin health and clinical studies have demonstrated its positive effect on a wide range of risk factors for common lifestyle and nutrition-related problems in the modern age.
